

Birds Impacted by Oil Development

North Slope

The northern most area of Alaska is a place where Oil Spills are alarmingly common, averaging more than one per day.

Important Bird Areas

Over 19,939,469 acres of the North Slope has been designated as Important Bird Areas which inhabit a number of near threatened and vulnerable species.

Oil pipelines and Infrastructure

Over 582 miles of pipeline and 6,828 wells currently reside within the North Slope which has led to 476 contaminated sites.

Total Miles of Pipeline within Important Bird Areas

582

Total Contaminated Sites within Important Bird Areas

77

Of Contaminated Sites Within Important Bird Area

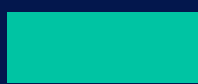

Contaminated Site Status

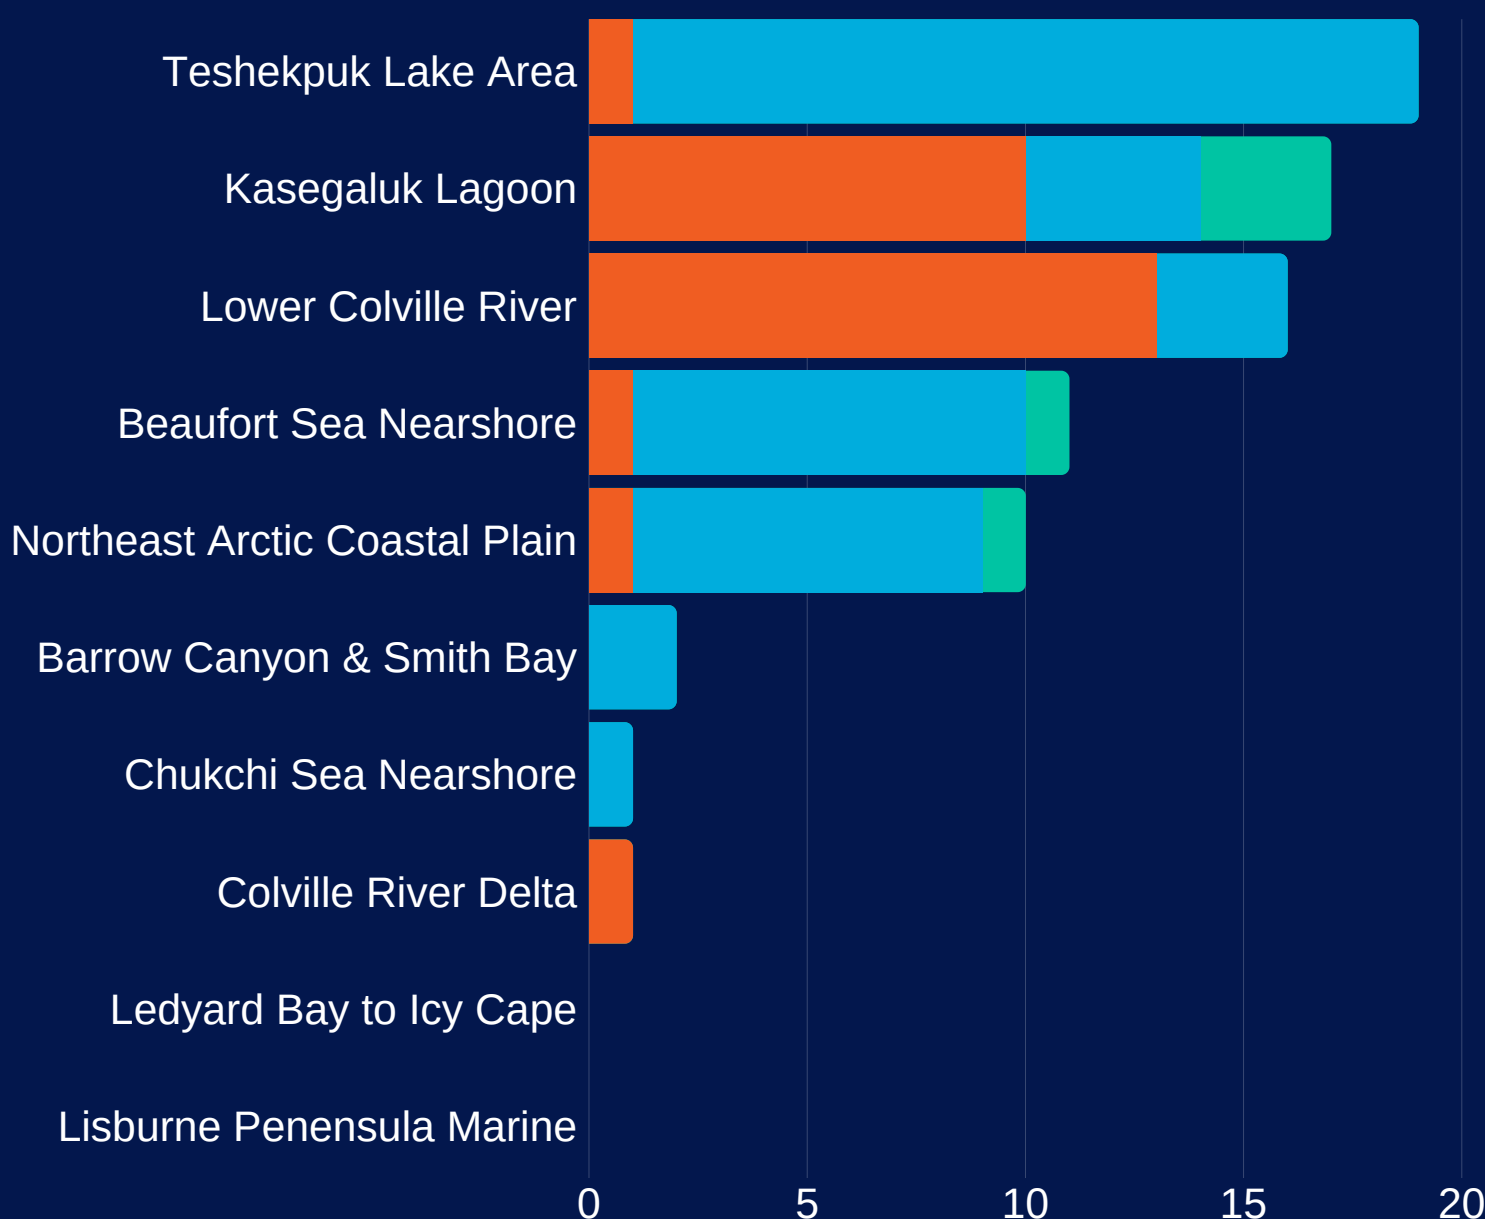

Active

Cleanup Complete

Informational

Click the mapbox icon for an interactive tour

Sources:

<https://www.arcgis.com/home/user.html?user=adecadmin>
http://data-soa-dnr.opendata.arcgis.com/search?owner=dog_admin
<https://databasin.org/datasets/f9e442345fb54ae28cf72f249d2c23a9>
<https://www.blm.gov/programs/energy-and-minerals/oil-and-gas/leasing/regional-lease-sales/alaska>